Washington, March 1.—After a series of hot exchanges among a half dozen representatives over principles involved in reimbursing citizens of the Southern states for property seized by the Union troops during the Civil war, the house today passed a bill to restore the right of the court of claims to consider claims of such reimbursements aggregating $500,000. An amendment would require claimants to show proof of loyalty to the Union. Representatives Heflin of Alabama and Clark of Florida resented statements by Representatives Mann of Illinois, the republican leader, and Stafford of Wisconsin, who were disloyal and that is the only purpose of the bill.

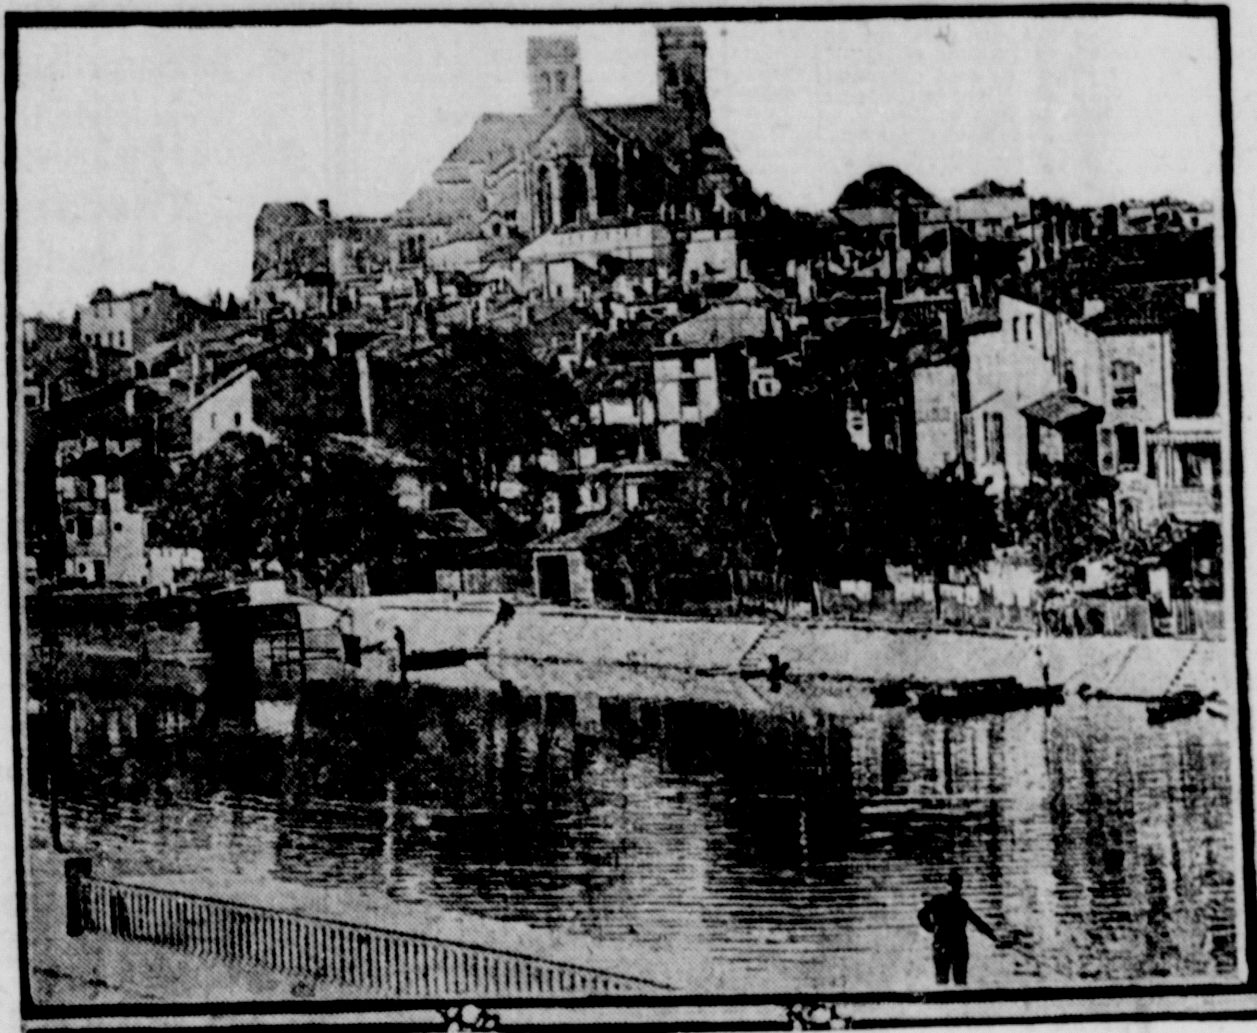

South True to Flag.
"It had been hoped," replied Representative Clark, "that no attempt to raise sectional prejudice would ever again be made upon this floor. It has remained for the gentleman from Wisconsin when brotherly love is the controlling spirit throughout the nation to dive into this cesspool and attempt again to create sectional feeling upon the floor of this house."

"We are American citizens, as true to the flag and as loyal to this country as he or any of the people whom he represents. When the nation was in trouble a few years ago and the loyal men of the North went to the aid of the South, the Southern people marched to the martial music of our country alongside every Northern soldier. And if unhappily we should have trouble now, I apprehend that a defense of the flag will come more unanimously from every section than from that part where the hyphenated citizen dwells and controls. The gentleman says it is loot to demand payment of an honest debt. The government took the property. They sold it and put the proceeds into the treasury and kept the money as a trust fund for years. Ever since the forty-ninth congress these claimants have been asking not a payment, but the poor privilege of going into a federal court and letting the judges say whether these claimants ought to be paid."

Minority Leader Mann replied that it was not the republican side that injected sectionalism, but the democratic war claims committee, which reported the bill to the house. Always, he said, it has been thought proper to insert proof of loyalty before a Civil war claim should be allowed.

STRONGLY FORTIFIED CITY OF VERDUN IS TEUTON GOAL

A view of the city of Verdun on the Meuse river in France.

Verdun, strongly fortified French city, is the goal of the terrific German offensive which has been developing since early last week. The battle here is one of the bloodiest in the history of the war. Verdun has a population of 22,000.

Emperor William Goes Back; But Verdun Battle Continues

By the Associated Press.
London, March 2.—The German emperor left the Verdun front and returned to Germany Tuesday, according to a Rotterdam dispatch to the Daily Mail.

The Germans in the battle scarred region of Verdun continue their bombardments west of the Meuse in the region between Melancourt and Forges, across the river eastward about Vaux and Dam Loup and against French trenches in the Woivre region southeast of Verdun.

Their big offensive, however, so far as infantry attacks are concerned, has ceased at least for the moment. Whether it will begin again or whether the Germans will rest content with the points of vantage they have gained, is not indicated in the official reports of either Berlin or Paris.

Unofficial advices from Berlin have stated that the German plan of the campaign was primarily based on the bombardment of sectors they desire to attain and it is possible they may now be drawing up their big guns to capture positions nearer their objective—Verdun.

East of Verdun around Font-a-Moise, the French have bombarded German positions heavily in Le Petre wood and near Thiaucourt. Artillery duels have been in progress in Alsace. There has been no resumption of German attacks against the French in the Champagne region.

While nothing of especial importance has taken place along the British part of the line, the effect of the German offensive in the Verdun region is shown in the lengthening of their front in order to release the French for the reinforcement of the army opposing the German advance. Unofficial advices have placed the extreme southern end of the British line in the region of Lens. The latest British official communication reports the British fighting north of the Somme which would show they have stretched their front between thirty and forty miles down to the region of Amiens.

Little is going on in Russia except isolated bombardments and infantry attacks and air raids.

On the Italian front the Italians have occupied and consolidated an Austrian position on Mount Mermolada. Elsewhere in this region only artillery bombardments have taken place.

On the Asian battle fronts the Russians continue the pursuit of the Turks in the Caucasus and in Persia. The German demand for the release within forty-eight hours of the interned German steamers seized by Portugal.

A German aeroplane has dropped bombs on the southeast coast of England.

Verdun May Be Real Point.

By the Associated Press.
London, March 2.—The Times' military correspondent, analyzing the situation around Verdun, declares his belief that the long-expected big German offensive has begun, although he doubts whether Verdun is to be the real point of the great attack. He further declares emphatically that no front is impenetrable in the face of a modern artillery attack, but he believes that the allies' cue is "to keep cool," to be avaricious in depleting the main reserves and to keep increasing those reserves for action when the Germans have exhausted themselves.

The writer's belief that the Germans are preparing to launch their main attack at some point other than Verdun is supported as follows:

"Any great success by the Germans further to the northwest than Champagne may under the present conditions bring about an enforced retirement from the Meuse. What the Germans hope for is to attack the bulk of the allies' reserve east of the Meuse, making an immense clatter there and the next German blow from the northward would be the fulfillment of this desire."

"The French appear to have met the Verdun attack with reserves just sufficient to maintain the conflict. There is no sign that General Joffre has yet drawn upon or even moved his main forces."

Douaumont Important.

By the Associated Press.
Berlin, March 1.—By wireless to Sayville—The Vossische Zeitung is quoted by the Overseas News agency as commenting upon the French statements declaring that the Douaumont fortifications were without importance as follows:

"It is true that after the artillery experiences obtained in the Belgian fortresses when they were conquered by the Germans, General Sarrail, who then was commander at Verdun, withdrew the big cannon which had been installed in concrete. These cannon were placed in positions nearby and were most active in the defense of Douaumont.

All the cannon installed in the armored towers were kept in their places and were fired until the fort was stormed by German troops. Infantry detachments with their machine guns tied into the fort and they also were captured by the conquerors of the position.

"It is ridiculous," the paper continues, "to speak of the unimportance of Douaumont because from its extended position all the artillery of the northeast Verdun defenses was directed."

GERMAN SUBMARINE CAMPAIGN IS NOW SUPPOSEDLY BEGUN

By the Associated Press.
New York, March 1.—The scheduled opening of the new submarine campaign of the Teutonic powers, which was set for today, finds twelve big liners in, or near, the war zone.

The liners are: Celtic, White Star line; Italia, Italian line; Thormina, Italian line; Lafayette, French line; Philadelphia, American line; Finland, American line; service; Borgesen, Norwegian-American line; Patria, Fabre line; America, Italian line; Pannonia, Cunard line; and the loan-ship and Vasilis Constantinos of the Greek line.

None of these vessels is believed to be armed, unless they have mounted guns at sea.

By the Associated Press.
London, March 1.—Sir Edward Grey, secretary for foreign affairs, authorized for publication the following statement:

"The assumption, apparently made by the German government, that all British merchant ships are armed, is entirely incorrect. Practically all British merchant ships employed in trade between the United States and the United Kingdom have hitherto been unarmed."

"The claim therefore made by the German government to sink all British merchant ships at sight because of their armament is one which cannot possibly be justified. This is clearly proved by the statement issued last night giving a list of British and neutral unarmed merchant ships which have been torpedoed by German submarines without warning."

By the Associated Press.
London, March 1.—The British steamship Thornaby is reported to have been sunk, all the members of the crew having been killed or drowned.

The Thornaby was owned in West Hartlepool, England, was built in 1889 and was 255 feet long. She sailed January 19 from Sunderland, England, for Palermo, Sicily.

The sinking of the Thornaby is the first reported since the German and Austrian decrees regarding the sinking of armed merchantmen without warning went into effect last midnight. The London dispatch does not indicate whether she was armed, nor whether she was sunk before or after the opening of the month.

HARMONY REIGNS SUPREME

Republicans Are Blamed for Panic of 1907 and Accused of Trying to Use

Federal Reserve Act Declared to Avert Repetition of 1907 Times.

By the Associated Press.

Syracuse, N. Y., March 1.—In a keynote speech and platform, democrats of New York state assembled in informal convention tonight ratified the administration of President Wilson and took steps to bring about his re-election. Harmony marked the convention's deliberations, every proposal being adopted unanimously.

The following delegates at large to the national democratic convention at St. Louis were recommended for the support of the party voters at the spring primaries:

United States Senator James A. O'Gorman, William Church Osborn, chairman of the democratic state committee; George J. Meyer of Buffalo, a German-American supporter of the president, and Samuel Untermyer, a New York attorney.

The convention also adopted a resolution recommending the re-election of Norman E. Mack of Buffalo as democratic national committee.

The delegates to the national convention who comprise New York's "big four" were unpledged, but were nominated with the understanding that they are to work for a second term for Mr. Wilson.

The keynote speech, delivered by former Governor Martin H. Glynn at permanent chairman, aroused much enthusiasm.

At the conclusion of the speech the convention adopted a resolution providing for the distribution of one million copies throughout the country.

The federal reserve act, the Underwood tariff, foreign affairs and preparedness were all dwelt upon by the former governor.

"Four years ago," he said, "this nation committed its care and welfare to the democratic party and the democratic party has been true to its trust. It has preserved peace, observed international laws and followed the traditions of the fathers of the country."

"Mr. Root," he declared, "was a part of Mr. Roosevelt's administration in 1907 and shares with Mr. Roosevelt and the leaders of the republican party the responsibility for the wholly unexpected and calamitous happenings of that panic."

Mr. Root, the democratic chairman asserted, voted and worked against the reserve act, and Mr. Root lost his "peacock feather" as a prophet when he made his famous speech against the federal reserve act.

The Underwood tariff law has "stimulated American industry," the former governor declared, and he blamed the foreign war for the decline in imports.

Denying that Mr. Root was the "keeper of national honor," Mr. Glynn added:

"For years Mr. Root has been the star performer at peace conferences and he has condemned President Wilson for maintaining peace."

"For years," continued the speaker, "Mr. Root has been acclaimed an apostle of peace and in 1912 was awarded the Nobel prize for the promotion of peace, but now he sallies forth as a drum and trumpet statesman."

"From a cooing dove of peace Mr. Root suddenly transforms himself into a screeching hawk of war."

In his foreign policy the president, Mr. Glynn said, was following the example of Washington, John Adams, Jefferson, Lincoln and Grant.

"The president," he declared, "has not shaken his finger. When he has to shake his fist, the world will find it mailed."

"The efforts of politicians like Mr. Root to make political capital by the course which President Wilson deemed it wise for this nation to follow in regard to Belgium during the early stages of the present war deserve and will receive unqualified condemnation and rebuke at the hands of the most right-thinking and patriotic Americans."

"No fair-minded man can question the wisdom and integrity of our Belgian policy."

Governor Glynn declared that Mr. Root himself as secretary of state adopted the same policy in handling the Japanese-Korean situation, despite the protests of Korea against the domination of Japan and despite a treaty between Korea and the United States.

"The insincerity of the republican party," the speaker asserted, "in its Belgian attitude is shown by the words of Mr. Taft and Mr. Roosevelt and by its record between 1901 and 1909, when there occurred the massacre at Kishineff, the horrors of the Congo, Korea lost its independence, Morocco was partitioned and no note of protest came from the republican party. What reason, then, has the republican party to expect the people to believe it would have acted any differently in 1909 than it did from 1901 to 1909?"

Would Bury Peat in Westminster.

London, March 1.—The proposal that the body of Henry James be buried in Westminster abbey has been taken up by several newspapers. NOTHING BUT RECORD VOTE WILL SATISFY PRESIDENT

Congressmen's Offer to Pass Resolution Expressing Confidence in Administration Is Rejected and Settling Armed Ship Question, Once for All, Is Demanded.

SENTIMENT APPEARS LARGELY WITH WILSON

Leaders May, However, Attempt to Keep Measures from Coming Up—Warning Is Given That Nothing Whatever Will Be Done in Submarine Controversy Until After Congress Has Taken Definite Stand.

By the Associated Press.

Washington, March 1.—President Wilson served notice on congress tonight that he will consent to nothing less than a record vote on the anti-administration resolutions to warn Americans off the armed ships of European belligerents before he goes on with the German submarine negotiations.

No compromise proposition such as a vote of confidence in the president's foreign policy will be acceptable. Such an action, it is held, might be construed in Berlin as justifying the opinion that the president lacks the support of congress and his own party in his demands for a full observance of international law, while its only purpose would be to afford members of congress a way to avoid recording their positions before the country on the straight-out-and-out question.

President Wilson made his position clear to congressional leaders tonight in unequivocal terms as the climax to a day of confusion, uncertainty and political maneuvering that marked the opening of his first real fight with congress.

As if to emphasize that the president absolutely refuses to continue the negotiations with Germany until the attitude of congress is settled, it was known that the United States does not consider the latest assurances from Count von Bernstorff, the German ambassador, as broad or as satisfactory as those originally given. No further step will be taken, however, while the president waits on congress. Meanwhile the pending Lusitania agreement will not be finally accepted.

The whole situation in congress confused by the president's call yesterday for a vote, was thrown into a snarl today when at an early morning conference the president outlined his position to Chairman Flood and Flood of the foreign affairs committee, Senate Leader Kern, Speaker Clark, House Leader Kitchin and Acting Chairman Foul of the house rules committee.

President Has Whip Hand.

As soon as the delegation returned to the capital with news of what the president had said, it was apparent that some of the leaders who had secretly supported the anti-administration forces and under administration pressure had pocketed resolutions in committee when there was danger of their being passed, realized that the president and his friends had suddenly gained the whip hand. It was plain that they at once devoted their efforts to attempts to avoid a defeat at the hands of the administration forces by sidetracking the main issue and making the fight turn to a vote on a resolution of confidence for the president in which they could join without compromising their position in support of their support of him.

Practically in control of the machinery of the house, these leaders held the situation in deadlock all day while they preferred and sought for some proposal which would satisfy the president and still save their positions.

Friends of the president watching the maneuvering closely saw the object and tonight when the white house came the word that there should be no compromise. Congress will meet tomorrow facing a clear-cut issue with the president.

The president's friends openly charge that resistance to his program is purely political. They make it unmistakably clear that he does not intend to let the question be passed over by a compromise and risk being embarrassed later in his handling of the German submarine controversy.

They say he intends to have the question removed once and for all from the field of possibilities and point out that the extent of the opposition the president faces may be judged from the fact that the chairman of the foreign affairs committee in both branches of congress and even Speaker Clark, were, to say the least, lukewarm in their support of him.

The administration whips in their support.

Muskogee, Okla., March 1.—An excited driver, anxious to get the school children he carried in his wagon across a railroad track ahead of an oncoming train, and an unmanageable pair of horses, today brought death and grief into many homes at Inola, a little town on the Iron Mountain railroad just north of Wagoner.

The train struck the wagon; two children are dead, four others are fighting for their lives in the M. O. G. hospital here, others less seriously injured are at their homes in or near Inola, while the driver, J. J. Stiles, is sixty years old, has paid for his mistake with his life, leaving a widow and two children.

The dead are:
J. J. Stiles, 60, driver of the wagon.
Donna Cummins, 16, high school student.
Hilda Reynolds, 15, high school student.

The injured in the hospital here are:
Thelma Reynolds, eight years old.
Ruby Reynolds, eleven years old.
Roy Lauters, seven years old.
Laura Cummins, eighteen years old.
About twelve were riding with Stiles at the time of the accident.

canvass have satisfied themselves that a majority of the rank and file of the democrats and many of the republicans will stand by the president if they can succeed in forcing the question past the opposition of the leaders who control the machinery and to the point of a vote.

No Doubt as to Position.

The whole effect of the day's development was to remove all doubt about the president's position. The leaders went away from the white house understanding fully what he wanted, but it was made clear soon afterward that their attitude was one of resentment against executive interference and some members of the majority party frankly added prevention of congressional action of any kind.

One member of the foreign affairs committee predicted that no resolution would be reported from that committee. Others advanced the idea of sending a joint committee of both houses to the president for a conference tomorrow on the whole situation, hoping that it might develop some way to keep the question out of congress altogether. Tonight when the white house was seeking some of the leaders, notably Chairman Flood, they were not to be found at their places of residence or their usual places of assembly.

The possibility that the effort to suppress a vote may succeed is not lacking ground, but the president's friends, although they are confident his course will prevail. They say, however, that if the opposition in congress should avoid the issue, the president would not hesitate to take his case to the country.

So far as the senate is concerned, the administration has a doubt. Even the proponents of armed ship resolutions admit that a majority of the side of the capital stands ready to support the president. No effort to bring about a vote was made today, however, and it was indicated that action by the house probably would be awaited.

After many informal conferences upon the return of the leaders from the white house, the foreign affairs committee held a two-hour session late in the afternoon and adjourned until 8:30 tomorrow morning without taking any action. Mr. Flood made no announcement, but one of the committee men said later that the chairman intended to ask the president to receive the full committee at the white house tomorrow. It was apparent during the committee meeting that the controlling element was anxious to prevent the reporting of any resolution.

The meeting with at least three resolutions bearing on the subject, but he offered none of them.

More Information Wanted.

All of the members except two democrats were present and discussion was indulged in freely by democrats and republicans alike. Some members said they thought they should have more detailed information regarding the international situation than had been given them. They said they wanted a clearer exposition of the president's position; all information that Secretary Lansing could give them and whatever documents the executive department had at hand bearing upon the submarine controversy, particularly photographic copies of the British orders regarding arming merchantmen.

Mr. Flood will make an attempt tomorrow, as he has previously done, to obtain these copies. In this connection some committee men expressed a desire to have Secretary Lansing appear before them.

While the leaders who conferred with President Wilson reported that the president did not ask for an official endorsement of his course but expressly declared that he wished a straight vote on a warning resolution, the growing trend through the day seemed to be to do almost anything else but to comply strictly with his request. The most persistent suggestion which had the unqualified approval of most of those who urged the original warning legislation was for a resolution combining an expression of faith in the president with a warning to Americans not to endanger the government by remaining off belligerent armed vessels, pending a settlement of the submarine controversy. One of these proposals was widely circulated and had the endorsement of Senator Gore and Representative Clegg.

Federal Officers Asked for Help in Fighting Typhus

El Paso, Texas, March 1.—Requests were sent to federal officers at Washington today to provide apparatus here for disinfecting immigrants from sections of Mexico where typhus and other diseases prevail.

The appearance here of two cases of typhus, one of which caused the death of Morris Buttner, a United States immigration inspector, prompted local officials to urge immediate action. Until a disinfecting plant is provided suspected immigrants will be refused entrance into the country.

MRS. LEWIS EARLY HOSTESS FOR HER BRIDGE CLUB

Playing hands of absent members with the Young Married Ladies' Bridge club on Tuesday afternoon were the Mesdames Leslie Gardner and Irving Swann with Miss Frances Luedke. Mrs. Lewis Early was hostess. Her provisions were two pieces of home work, a table runner, hand embroidered, and a fancy holder for stationery. They were won by Mrs. Randolph Wilson and Mrs. Merchant Colvin. Mrs. W. W. Early will entertain the club next Tuesday.

BRIDGE JUNIORS PLAY WITH MISS HOLLOWAY

Several members being out of the city or detained from the club, Miss Dixon Holloway as hostess for the Bridge Juniors extended invitation to the Mesdames Mary Carter, Ellen Hardin, Charabel Knight and Katherine Lewis, also to the Mesdames T. E. Jarman, Mills Brown of La Grange. After the afternoon had been enjoyed in the ever fascinating pastime, it was to congratulate Miss Enrique Smith for making high score. Miss Anne Risher invited the club for next Tuesday afternoon.

MRS. JAMES H. STURGIS FOR MISS EDWINA STURGIS

In welcome home from school in the east, Mrs. James Sturgis was luncheon hostess for Miss Edwina Sturgis on Tuesday. Only the younger society girls were included as guests, since Miss Sturgis is not yet a formal debutante. The provision for floral-luncheon room gave patronage to the new popular spring jonquils, these making not only the table ornament and chair card fancy, but with the first of the buffet trays, the jonquil cluster came as the plate favor. Mrs. E. A. Sturgis enjoyed this courtesy with her young daughter, other guests being the Mesdames Mildred Fort, Katherine Reynolds, Dorothy Finley, Ethel Foster, Thelma Ashburn, Enrique Smith and Frances Van Boddie.

INDEPENDENCE DAY HERE; UNFURL THE TEXAS FLAG

Style Show decorations, as timely as these be, should today find addition of the Lone Star flag, for it is Texas Independence Day. This means on March 1, 1836, after continuing agitation of declaring Texas independent of Mexico, with whom troubles had been multiplying and increasing, a convention met at Old Washington, not far from our present town of Brenham. On March 2, the last of which bound Texas to Mexico was severed, and Texas was declared a free and independent republic. It was not, however, until April 21, the battle of San Jacinto, that Texas became the "Lone Star Republic." Today, above all others in our state calendar, should the Texas flag be honored.

MRS. HOWARD LANHAM HOSTESS FOR HER CLUB

The Current Event club spent their last study hour with review of "Our Country," very timely since so much of constitutional and international complication is involved. Mrs. Howard Lanham was the hostess with Miss Birdie Bell, the Mesdames Holloway, Smith, E. B. Peak, J. L. Burgess and E. E. Thompson, the guests. The paper of the afternoon, and it was an excellent one, was read by Miss Margaret Horsful. Mrs. Holliver Nettles was appointed conductor of the round table, the members being unusually well prepared. This, too, reviewed recent achievements in America. Miss Horsful's subject was "America as a World Power." Roll call responses brought forward events of passing note. No business was transacted. The session closed over the tea cups.

EMERSONS HAVE PLAYTIME WITH MRS. N. S. HILL

Ever since organization, the Emerson club has met on alternate fifth days for study, reserving the last Tuesday for a play day. The last came with the current week, and found Mrs. N. S. Hill offering invitation to the club to be her guests. Provision

WIFE OF TURK AT NATIONAL CAPITAL

Madame Abdul Hak Hussein Bey.

Madame Abdul Hak Hussein Bey is the wife of the charge d'affaires of the Turkish legation at Washington. She entertains frequently and is popular in diplomatic circles.

when she appears with drenched hair and powderless face, then his devotion is lasting. How about the men who have no surr? Suppose these substitute the unexpected morning call.

We heart so much of old lace, indeed the late Myrtle Reid gave this immortality through her book, "Lavender and Old Lace," that it is always a pleasing fashion note to see how this can be utilized; especially, since the family who possesses pieces of rare old point feels this an evidence of past aristocracy. A bride in New York the other day departed from the accustomed tulle veil by laying first an old lace bandeau across her hair, something after the style of the bonnet cap. Upon this the illusion was shuffed and fastened. It may be all right, this honor to old lace, but it certainly gives harsh texture to skin; far more becoming is the filmy illusion about the face.

The coming week finds Mrs. W. S. Blackshear matron of the H. S. McCall apartment, Fourteenth and Washington. Mrs. McCall spends the next few months in Austin.

Fashion sends an advance note to say that the strictly upto the season girl selects her neck pieces of the same material and tone as her hat, the idea, we suppose, being to give the face a frame.

The florists last week held annual conference in the east. They predict azalea versus lily for the Easter season. Why not both?

"You can not practice cruelty to others without the reaction upon your own nature." Mothers, remember this with your children.

Mrs. Albert Clifton is spending the next ten days with her mother, Mrs. W. D. Lacy, Thirteenth and Washington streets.

The aristocrats of New York City are in the excitement of a "Cubist" dance. Waco has already had hers, for if the costumes at the tacky party were not those studies for imagination to work into form, pray, what were they? Cubist, futurist, whatever this is in art, and nobody seems to know, is now pervasive society, ever restless for something novel.

There was once the time when the woman who talked and thought about one thing only was said to ride a hobby; now she is possessed of an "idea overworked"; rather a clever phrase, is not this latter?

Why is it that, with change of season, the woman invariably buys a new hat before a new suit? Why not the two simultaneously? Already we are seeing women with spring hats above their season-worn dresses. This is not good style.

It has been remarked that never has Waco had so few sweet violets as have appeared this season. Flowers may come and flowers may go, but no flower runs in such perennial popularity as does the modest, fragrant violet.

Following her winter sojourn in California, Miss Laurine Gay of Washington Heights is now on her way home. She is due within a few days.

Out in Los Angeles a club has been organized among girls in plan to live organized, one hundred years. Why not Waco organize a branch? But listen! This means rise at dawn, walk before breakfast, little food and that Fletcherized, work outdoors among the flower beds, no late hours, no shrewish moments, a nap every afternoon, and no outbursts of temper. Now, how many want to join this club?

Mrs. Edwin Jurney invited a few friends to enjoy "Miss Marner" at the theatre with her on Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. Earl Prade since Wednesday is matron of one of the Prade apartments, Tenth and Jefferson.

Today finds Mrs. J. H. Coffield removed from the Prade apartments to the Hotel Haleigh for permanent residence.

Another few days notes the removal of Mrs. Arthur Rahnam, who is a winter member of the R. F. Gribble household, into her own cottage on Sanger avenue.

Somewhat Waco never waits for the proverbial first of May moving. She generally does her changing of residence with early March.

One week from today and it will be Lenten service and Lenten retirement in earnest.

THE DAY WE CELEBRATE.

The banks and the schools of the state will enjoy a holiday today in honor of the anniversary of the day, four-score years ago, when Texas declared her independence of Mexico. And while it is well that the day be a holiday we are persuaded we are not making the largest use of it when we fail to hold a larger observance of it in the way of instilling in the minds of the children and the people in general the lessons from the lives of the great men of this state who not only issued a declaration of independence but made that declaration good by defeating the Mexican armies under Santa Anna.

Those early Texans were made of stern stuff. With them liberty was a principle worth fighting for and patriotism moved them to deeds. But how little does the average Texan know of them now! So far as the merits of their deeds are concerned, their names should be imperishable, for surely the history of no country affords more illustrious examples of devotion to ideals and love of country than Austin, Houston, Fannin, Bowie, Travis, Burleson and the other immortals who yielded everything on the altar of a newly adopted country, but a country, because they had come to claim it as their own, which they deemed worthy of every sacrifice in order that it should be free. But how much can we tell of the lives and deeds of these men who made the history of the state immortal? A very small part of the whole we fear.

So while agreeing that it is well that the legislature decree that March 2 shall be a legal holiday, and that the schools throughout the state will so observe it, we cannot but feel that we are making very poor use of the occasion in not seeing to it that larger emphasis is given to the significance of the day and that the school children, as the citizens of tomorrow, are given special opportunity on this day to hear the deeds of the noble founders of this commonwealth recounted, partly for the information that it will add to their stock of knowledge, but more largely for the stimulus which it will afford to their patriotism and the conviction it will inspire that every citizen is under obligation to serve his state as well as enjoy its blessings.

Mr. Liebling, editor of the Musical Courier, while in this city from New York this week, remarked upon the abundant material for great, soul-stirring music, music that should embody the national spirit and life, which the history and environment of Texas afford, and what is true of music is true as to literature, for no other state in America affords so fertile ground for a really great epic as does Texas. But so far, no one has attempted either the music or the epic. With a greater stress upon Texas history and the lives of the early men and women who made this history glorious it is possible that latent talent may be aroused along both literary and musical lines and this state and the nation will be the richer for the result.

It is too late to rearrange our anniversary program for this year, but with 1917 let's try and see that the lesson of Texas Independence is given the place in our thoughts which the importance of the day demands. A good start has been made locally this year in the program of the Working Boys' club tonight when the incidents leading up to the declaration of independence and the events that resulted in the winning of that independence will be recited and the song "Texas" will be sung by the boys.

If you have twenty-two dollars to invest in edibles now you can get a whole ton of San Benito cabbage for that sum.

NEXT STEP FOR THE SUFFRAGISTS.

Now that the advocates of votes for women have learned there will be no action on their petition for a constitutional amendment upon that subject at the hands of the present session of congress, and the legislatures of Maryland and other states are showing no enthusiasm about submitting the matter to a vote of the people, it appears that the women must wage their battle from another angle if they are to win, and our sympathies are with them in their efforts.

Accordingly, we believe it would be worth the while of those women who are already in favor of conferring the ballot upon themselves to inject new vigor into their educational campaigns in an effort to convert their faltering sisters to the suffrage propaganda, for it is not to be denied that there are still a large number of intelligent women who are not only indifferent to the suffrage cause, but who are opposed to the movement altogether. The indifferent ones should be aroused and the opponents won over by a dispassionate presentation of the merits of equal suffrage, and when this is done—when it appears that the great majority of women really want the ballot—the men in the legislatures will submit the matter to the electorate without hesitation and the electorate will vote to share the ballot with their mothers, wives, daughters and sisters. There is enough gallantry left in this country to insure the good women getting practically everything for which they present anything like a united petition and we believe they will get the ballot when they ask for it with anything approaching a unanimous voice.

This much is said in full sympathy with woman suffrage, and with no sympathy whatever for the efforts of the politicians who would like to kill the suffrage question for the time being by submitting it to a vote of the women at present, for such an election would have no binding effect in law and is proposed solely as a subterfuge by those who do not care to face the issue squarely upon its merits.

VERDUN MAY BE TURNING POINT

For nearly a year most critics have assumed that the German and allied armies in France and Belgium had reached a military deadlock that neither side could break, says the Baltimore Sun. Each seemed to have rendered its position virtually impregnable by an elaborate system of defenses that human valor and human genius could not overcome. Every attempt on the part of either to smash the opposing line appeared to confirm the view that such an undertaking could not succeed. The drive made by the allies last fall resulted in large losses, but in no substantial change in the situation. But the deliberate and carefully planned attack on Verdun proves that Germany was not convinced that the problem could not be worked out. She seems to have been studying it deeply for months in her military laboratory, and to have come to the conclusion that she had discovered the answer. Taking her own successful campaign against the Russians last year as a general basis, and noting the strong and the weak points in the forward movement of the allies last September, she has put into operation at Verdun a scientific and coldly calculated plan that represents the highest expression of her military intellect, and her most formidable expression of military power.

If she is thrown back from Verdun, she will have finally demonstrated that neither of the combatants can break through the lines of the other by violence, and that they must be content simply to watch each other until one of them is forced to give way by the general events elsewhere. Failure for Germany here will be like the failure of the Confederates at Gettysburg. It will not mean that the end has come, but it will tend to take the heart out of Germany, and to weaken national confidence and hope. On the other hand, if she should accomplish what has been considered the impossible, by breaking through at Verdun, who can say that in a few months she might not be mistress of France, as she made herself mistress of Galicia and Poland last summer and fall? The fate of the world may center around Verdun, and until the awful struggle for the mastery there is settled all speculations as to the future are held in suspense.

For the benefit of some of our married friends we would like to have had the style show committee make a display of the sectional hat, a new form of feminine headgear that is built in sections, a la book cases, that could be built up and added to as hubby could afford it.

The University of Texas authorities are loyal to the national administration and will advise William Jennings Bryan that his address to the university students must not involve an attack upon the president. And if Mr. Bryan hasn't the discretion to refuse to make such an attack under the circumstances, it is well enough that he should be advised of the proprieties in the case.

MARLIN WILL VOTE ON CITY HALL BONDS

COUNCIL ORDERS ELECTION ON $12,500 ISSUE FOR PURPOSE IN APRIL.

Negro Takes Rat Poison for Quinine. Interurban Plans Are Discussed.

Special to the Morning News.
Marlin, March 1.—George Gardner, a negro tenant on George Cousin's farm, died last night at 7 o'clock from the effects of poison, taken through mistake for quinine. He had gone to a white man on a neighboring farm and secured the quinine, same home, taken a dose and then given his boy a dose. The boy became ill and a Marlin doctor was called, who stated he had been poisoned. The old man showed no effects, and when the boy recovered took another teaspoonful, dying within thirty minutes.

On the mantle in the Frank home, from which he secured the powder, were two bottles and a box of rat poison. Thinking the small bottle contained quinine, more was poured into it and it was given to the negro. He took the first dose from the top, probably getting all quinine. The boy got a mixed dose and recovered, and the old man took the last in the bottle which was pure poison.

RULING ON STATUTE OF LIMITATION MADE

SUPREME COURT HOLDS ILLEGAL FORFEITURE OF SCHOOL LAND VITIATES ONE-YEAR RULE.

Chiropractors Must Take Out License to Practice Medicine, Says Criminal Appeals Court.

By the Associated Press.
Austin, March 1.—When the forfeiture of a sale of school land is illegal and unauthorized, the right of purchase to the land is unaffected by the forfeiture and the rights of the purchaser to the land are not barred or concluded by his failure to bring suit within one year after the land is awarded by the commissioner of the general land office to some other purchaser. This was the opinion rendered in the supreme court today in the case styled J. H. Nations et al. vs. F. P. Miller et al., from El Paso county. This holding of the court on the statute of limitation as applying to school lands is the first of its kind under similar facts.

Fourteen applications for writs of error were refused and four applications were granted. Four applications were dismissed for want of jurisdiction. Dissents were in order in the case of W. H. Laird from Dallas in the court of criminal appeals today. The court granted a rehearing in the case wherein two years was given on a charge of perjury, reinstated the case and affirmed it. Associated Judge Davidson concurred in the reinstatement of the appeal, but dissented from the opinion. Presiding Judge Prendergast dissented from the reinstatement, but concurred in the reaffirmance. Judge Harper wrote the opinion. The indictment for perjury grew out of testimony in a divorce suit as to the length of residence of Laird in Texas. The court affirmed the case of David B. Teem, from Grayson, given $100 fine and sentenced to six days in jail on a charge of illegally practicing medicine. In affirming the court held that chiropractors must take out a license to practice medicine.

Reversal was ordered in the cases of Will Mason from Johnson county, a charge of murder; John Knight from Hardin, fifteen years on charge of murder.

Motion for rehearing in the case of Wade Hampton from Franklin, ninety-nine years for murder, was overruled. An appeal to the county court from a conviction for violating a city ordinance had in the corporation court of a city, will lie, according to an opinion of the court of criminal appeals today, rendered in the case of Pink Hickman from Lampasas, fined one dollar for unlawfully driving an automobile over a fire hose in violation of a city ordinance. The case was remanded to the county court for reinstatement and trial by order of the court of criminal appeals.

Accident Board Makes Report.

Special to the Morning News.
Austin, March 1.—A statement issued today by the state industrial accident board shows that during February 2,464 accidents were reported to the board, of which four were fatal. Promenades Des Toilettes Begin Today at Sanger's

The event that has been looked forward to with much pleasure and anticipation by the people of not only Waco but the surrounding territory comes today and tomorrow. It is the Sanger formal opening and fashion show. The brilliancy and the splendor of these events in the past have caused the people of this section to expect much from the Sanger store and they are not to be disappointed today. Full details of the fashion show at the Sanger store are announced in the firm's full-page announcement on the last page of today's paper. The living models will appear in the promenade room, which is the most beautiful Promenade Des Toilettes ever planned anywhere, promptly at 9:45 this morning. The afternoon performance will begin promptly at 2:30 o'clock and the night performance will start at 7:15. Tomorrow morning again at 9:45 and tomorrow afternoon at 2:30.

Store Open Tonight.

The Sanger store will be open tonight for the expert living model promenade and display purposes. Nothing will be sold except in the soda fountain department after 6 o'clock, the usual closing hour. This will be the only night performance this year in which the expert living models will take part. Last spring and fall, as at previous night openings, hundreds of out-of-town people stayed to witness the exhibition. Hours for the living model promenade as printed above are so arranged that those living outside of Waco can arrive conveniently and catch the trains and interurbans after seeing the displays.

The management of the store feels that notwithstanding the triumphant successes of previous events of this kind, the fashion show for spring 1916 will eclipse all of its predecessors in every particular. It is at opening time that the public generally sees and appreciates the immensity of the Sanger store's stocks and how well it prepares for the wants of the people of this community each season. It is the time when the store is given over to the entertainment of visitors. Every department is at its best and the magnificent decorations serve to emphasize this fact. No detail, no matter how small, that will tend to add to the pleasure of the occasion is overlooked.

Miss Stanford to Sing.

In addition to the expert living model fashion show splendid musical features have been arranged. An elaborate program will be rendered by Alessandro's orchestra and other musical features will add to the attractiveness of the formal event of the season. One has but to look in at the door of the Sanger store to realize that openings of the magnitude of those conducted at this house do not just happen. A glance will convince you that months of energy and painstaking effort have been put forth to accomplish the wonderful results that have obtained.

Miss Eldora Stanford, who has given several pleasing concerts during her present visit to Waco, among them at Baylor University and at the public library, will sing in the promenade room at the Sanger store this afternoon during the living model presentation. Prof. Joseph Evans of Baylor University will play for Miss Stanford. Waco people are highly appreciative of Miss Stanford's talent and Sanger Brothers consider themselves fortunate in securing her for this afternoon in connection with the exhibition and display of the new spring styles and fashions.

FOOD SOURING IN STOMACH CAUSES INDIGESTION, GAS

PAPE'S DIAPEPSIN ENDS ALL STOMACH DISTRESS IN FIVE MINUTES.

Wonder what upset your stomach—what portion of the food did the damage—do you? Well, don't bother. If your stomach is in a revolt; if sour, gassy and upset, and what you just ate has fermented into stinky fumes; head dizzy and aches; belch gases and acids and eructate undigested food; breath foul, tongue coated—just take a little Pape's Diapepsin and in five minutes you wonder what became of the indigestion and distress.

Millions of men and women today know that it is needless to have a bad stomach. A little Diapepsin occasionally keeps this delicate organ regulated and they eat their favorite foods without fear.

If your stomach doesn't take care of your liberal limit without rebellion; if your food is a damage instead of a help, remember the quickest, surest, most harmless relief is Pape's Diapepsin, which costs only 50c for a large full—it digests food and sets things straight, so gently and easily that it is really astonishing. Please, for your sake, don't go on and on with a weak, disordered stomach; it's so unnecessary.

Texas Farmers' Union Opposes Open Sea Unless for Cotton

By the Associated Press.

Fort Worth, March 1.—The Texas Farmers' Union today went on record as opposing an open sea policy unless such a policy is to apply to cotton and other farm products. In a telegram to Texas members of congress, Henry N. Pope, president of the union, outlined the position of its membership as follows: "The organized farmers of this state are opposed to keeping an open sea to travelers and tourists unless we can also keep an open sea to cotton and farm products. The farmers of the country want a flag that will protect the man in the furrow as well as the man on the ship. We favor an open sea but object to any policy that discriminates."

In defending the position taken by the union, Mr. Pope said: "The farmers of the South are smarting under the failure of our government to render any assistance whatever in either holding or marketing the cotton crop of 1914-15, where the cotton producers lost something near half a billion dollars."

"The cotton fields of the south have been as much a battle ground for the European conflict as they were for civil war and there have been more cotton values destroyed by the present war than by the civil war. The peace and dignity of this nation is as much offended when European battleships destroy the value of cotton by closing a market as if they destroyed the cotton with guns. The farmer of the South had as well be shot as starved and there is no greater crime than the other. Let the sea be opened or closed."

Fortification Plans Not Found on Germans

By the Associated Press.

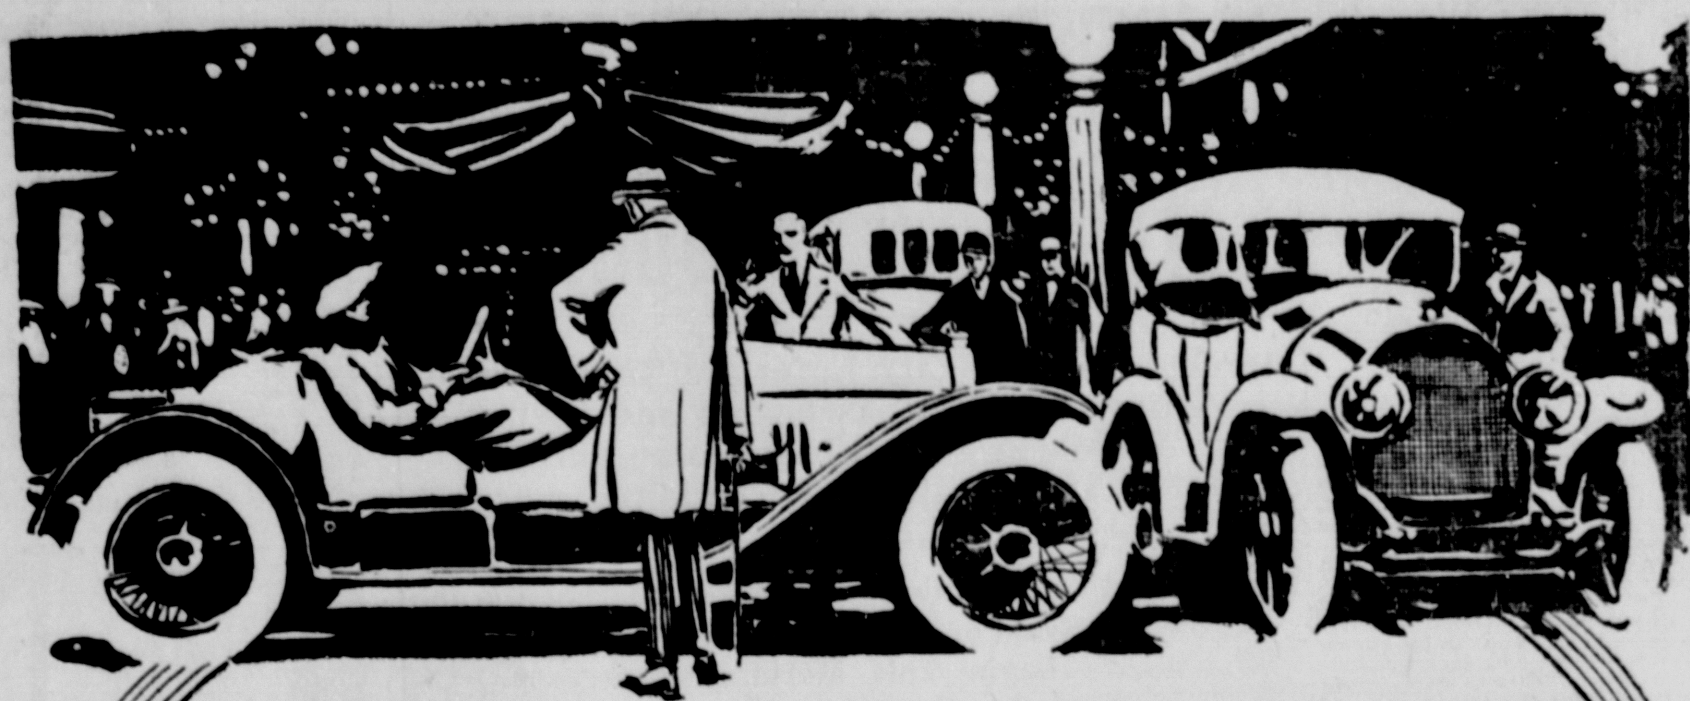

New York, March 1.—Agents of the department of justice announced today that the investigation had failed to confirm reports that plans of United States fortifications had been discovered in the rooms of Richard von Arndt and Rudolph von Kracht, arrested here last night on a charge of conspiring to use the mails to defraud through a systematic begging scheme. Maps of New York and Philadelphia were found by the agents, but it was stated that nothing was discovered which would tend to associate the defendants with the international situation. The two men explained the possession also of German war pictures by saying that friends had sent them from Germany. Von Arndt and Von Kracht, who claimed to be German army lieutenants and University of Berlin graduates, were held in $5,000 each for a hearing on Saturday.

Overland

Model 75, Roadster $595—f. o. b. Toledo

Never Before Such an Instantaneous And Sensational Success

From every state in the Union we hear of the amazing success of the latest Overland—the $615 model.

At the New York and Chicago Automobile Shows—the two great national automobile events of the year—the $615 Overland was the most widely discussed model exhibited.

And why not? An electrically started and electrically lighted, completely equipped Overland with four-inch tires for only $615!

Is there any wonder this car took the whole country by storm?

Season after season for seven years we have experienced one great success after another.

But this one tops them all.

No other achievement in the history of the entire industry parallels this record.

It stands out alone—boldly—conspicuously—unapproached.

Never before has an automobile success been so rapid, so definite and so sweeping.

The $615 Overland has made history. It marks the entrance of a new automobile value—a car complete in every sense of the term at a price which was hitherto thought impossible.

Yet here it is—a powerful five-passenger touring car complete for only $615.

Note that word "complete."

This means electric starter and electric lights, electric horn, magnetic speedometer—in fact, every necessary item. Nothing is lacking. There are no "extras" to buy.

Note that the motor is the very latest en bloc design—the last word in fine engineering.

In addition note that the tires are four-inch size. This is another big advantage. Cantilever springs mean the utmost in riding comfort.

Note the headlight dimmers—the electric control buttons on steering column—demountable rims and one-man top.

These are all big advantages.

This newest Overland is light in weight, easy to handle and very economical to operate.

It's just the car the world has been waiting for.

It is large enough for the whole family—moderately priced, within the reach of the majority—economical to maintain—built of the best quality materials—snappy, stylish and speedy—and complete in every sense.

In short, it is just another striking example of how our larger production enables us to build a bigger and better car and still keep the price within reason.

You'll want one, so order it now.

Don't wait, debate or argue with yourself. See that your order is placed immediately.

Then in a few days you and your whole family will be driving your own car.

Remember it comes complete—only $615.

Henry Ford Is Not Seeking Presidency

By the Associated Press.

Detroit, Mich., March 1.—Henry Ford said today he was not to be considered as a republican candidate for the presidency.

"I do not want anything to do with politics," said Mr. Ford. "The filing of my name at Lansing was a joke."

One of Mr. Ford's close friends said the primary petitions were filed by admirers of the manufacturer.

TAKE MAGNESIA AFTER MEALS TO STOP INDIGESTION

Bisurated Magnesia Sweetens Sour Acid
Stomach and Stops All Distress in Five Minutes.

People who have acid indigestion, seem to find most everything they eat disagrees with them and are troubled with sour or burning sensation and formation of gas in stomach. They should drop digestive aids and get from their druggist a few ounces of ordinary pure Bisurated Magnesia and take a teaspoonful in a quarter glass of water right after eating. This would promptly neutralize the excess acid, sweeten the stomach contents and their food would digest properly and painlessly. Its great to forget all about indigestion, to be able to eat big meals and enjoy them and never a pain to follow. Yet a lot of long faced folks who suffer from stomach trouble continually and have to say, "No thank you" to most every thing on the table can get healthy digestion easily and quickly by using Bisurated Magnesia to sweeten their acid stomachs. For correcting stomach acidity do not take Magnesia in any form but Bisurated.

Enthusiasm Marks First Day C. of C. Campaign

Active work of increasing the membership and income of the Chamber of Commerce was launched in the luncheon held yesterday at noon in the State House where the twelve teams recently appointed by President Harry M. Baine were present, and during which the plans for the campaign were outlined and prepared.

Discussions of various propositions looking to the increase were given during the meet and the new traffic department to be added to the organization was further discussed. The adding of this department is one of the occasions necessary for the increase of membership.

The business men of the city are signifying their intention of responding readily to the campaign, according to Secretary E. F. Drake, and the campaign will be lively and successful from every standpoint, he said.

The committeemen will hold daily luncheons during the days of work and reports of progress will be made and further discussions held. The luncheon today at noon will be at the Raleigh.

"Twenty-five per cent of our educated people die because of ignorance," is the recent statement of a noted scientist. Although paradoxical, the truth of this statement is significant, especially with respect to those who live in the cities.

After a worldwide search, Plant Juice was discovered, which is a combination of plants from the juices of which was extracted a tonic that has proven to be the greatest of all known remedies for the stomach, liver, kidneys and blood. This is now widely known throughout the larger cities of the country on account of its revivifying and reconstructive action, which is so apparent that the user finds himself infused with new life and his bodily ills vanish as if by magic.

Plant Juice is daily gaining converts throughout the country, as is attested by the following testimonial of G. C. Bean, who lives at No. 91 Franklin street, Boston, Mass., and is a street car conductor of that city. He said: "I have had stomach trouble, indigestion and dyspepsia for the last three years. My food fermented in my stomach, causing gas and a heavy, bloated condition, with severe pains all over my body, and I thought that I had pleurisy. I was restless and nervous and could not sleep at night. I had tried a great many kinds of medicine, but got no benefit whatever from any of them. I heard of Plant Juice and have taken it for a short time, and I can now say that I have no pain whatever and am feeling like a new man. I can recommend it to every one. It is a first-class tonic for stomach trouble and I feel 90 per cent better."

CROWDED STORES FEATURE STYLE SHOW SECOND DAY

Merchants of the City Entertain Thousands of Visitors—Balloon Ascension and Living
Models Show at Hippodrome Theatre Feature Attractions.

Fashion and Automobile Parade This Afternoon is the Crowning Event of Week—Promenades of Living
Models Begin This Morning at Sanger
Brothers, Continuing Tomorrow.

TODAY'S PROGRAM.

3:30 p. m.—Parade, featured by sections showing the evolution of styles from the early Indian period to the present time, and the evolution of transportation from the earliest modes of travel to 1916. A number of the handsome late model automobiles will occupy a prominent part in the parade, many of which were ordered especially for the Style Show.

Today is "Fashion Day and Automobile Day" on the Style Show calendar. Merchants of the city will keep open house all day for visitors, during which time the late spring styles will be on display.

Merchants of the city received hundreds of visitors yesterday. "Merchants' Reception and Motion Picture Show Day," on the spring Style Show calendar, and motion picture shows that had arranged special programs for the occasion were taxed to their capacity throughout the day. An unusually large number of vehicles were seen on Austin avenue last night carrying sightseers who were eager for a glimpse at the many show windows elaborately decorated and arranged to show the latest in many lines of products, but principally what will be the vogue for midday of the spring and summer of 1916.

Among the principal features of the Style Show yesterday was a balloon ascension at 4:50 p. m. by Captain Charles W. Andrews, famous balloonist from Detroit, which started from Fifth and Franklin streets; a style show of living models at the Hippodrome at 3 and 9 p. m., in connection with the showing of Billie Burke, star of the speaking stage but now connected with the famous Triangle motion picture corporation, who appeared in "Peggy," and the showing of David W. Griffith's masterpiece of the film world, "The Birth of a Nation," at the Auditorium.

Special Illumination Turned On. Electric lights that were installed especially for the Style Show were turned on last night and the city was brilliantly illuminated and the general Style Show spirit and the spirit of spring predominated. Austin avenue with its rows of attractive show windows in which is featured the latest and popular styles for this spring, is an unusual sight of beauty. It had many admirers yesterday and even larger crowds are expected to fill the streets for the parade this afternoon.

The displays that were now offered to the public of this city eclipse any ever before offered in the history of Waco. They are complete in every detail and more pains have been taken to present the latest styles in the best possible manner.

The show is not only a compliment to the Young Men's Business League, but a plan, but is a compliment to the merchants in general of the city whose co-operation with the committees representing this aggressive commercial organization, has made the event a success thus far. Members of the committees feel very gratified over the results of their labors and are of the opinion that the remaining events which are in charge to present the latest styles will attract even wider attention and bring out larger crowds.

Not only are the merchandise stores of the city co-operating in the Style Show plans, but dealers in other lines of business have arranged features for the benefit of the public and to help put Waco on the map as one of the leading cities in promoting commercial events in the United States. A number even of out-of-town visitors were included in the thousands of people that were on the business districts of the city yesterday who had come here to take advantage of the presentation of the styles for the spring and summer seasons. The displays that are offered gives everybody a chance to see absolutely the latest styles in all lines and that which will be the most popular on the markets.

Legless Aeronaut Performs. In order to have some extra event out of line with the regular Style Show events, the entertainment committee brought Captain Andrews to this city yesterday for a balloon ascension. It had been announced that two flights would be made, one at 2:30 in the afternoon, and the other at 7 o'clock last night. The former was unsuccessful, due to an accident which occurred just before Captain Andrews was preparing to ascend. When the balloon had almost consumed its capacity of gas, one of the guide poles was pulled out of the ground by the pressure, letting the gas escape and preventing the flight.

However, the ascension which started a few minutes before 7 o'clock last night was a big success. Captain Andrews was pulled out of the ground 5000 and 6000 feet before he opened his parachute. He entertained people in all parts of the city who had heard the announcement of his flight and were watching for him to appear in the air.

Captain Andrews was in the air fourteen minutes before he dropped, making a very pretty fall, and it took him a little more than ten minutes to reach the ground. A south wind carried him slowly across the Brazos river and he was only a few hundred feet east from the edge of the river when he cut loose from the balloon. The balloon landed only a short distance from the banks of the river, while he lit safely in a wheat field several hundred yards from this point.

Had it not been for the many high-tension wires in the residence sections of the city, Captain Andrews said that he would have given a night flight, but that it was very dangerous to attempt this with such conditions existing. This is not the first time he has thrilled Waco crowds by his daring ascensions. He gave five ascensions here in 1913 during the Cotton Palace, all of which were very successful. Three times he ascended more than 2,000 feet, which is considered a very good height to reach in a balloon. He also gave an exhibition here at the Katy park in 1913 which was very successful.

Hippodrome Style Show Success.

Manager Everett received many congratulations last night upon the splendid success of the style show which was staged at the Hippodrome in the afternoon and night. It was something out of the ordinary style show promenade and at the same time displayed the very latest of styles and in a most impressive manner. To break the monotony often connected with the displaying of styles a tea party in pantomime was given and was participated in by six young women. They were Misses Connie Gillespie, Thelma Maise, Florence Bennett, Adele Ferguson and Thelma Jones and Mrs. Graham Cole. The show was under the direction of Miss Bobby Childers of the Walk-Over Boot Shop.

Although the show was an experiment and the first time ever attempted by a motion picture show on such an elaborate scale, it pleased the audience and promises to be a splendid attraction for style shows in the future, since the management of the theatre has announced that it would be made a semi-annual affair in order that both the spring and fall styles could be put before the public in this manner. Mr. Everett stated that hereafter special stage settings would be used with special electrical effects and music.

Electrical effects and music by Leon M. Block, organist at the theatre, added much to the style show performance yesterday. All attendance records for this theatre were shattered by the crowds that filled the house to its capacity.

Tailored suits worn by the models in the afternoon were furnished by Graham-Jarrell. This company also furnished several attractive afternoon frocks and two beautiful hats. Boots and pumps worn at both performances were from the stock at the Walk-Over Boot Shop. Hats used by the models at the night show were from Marks Millinery store, and the gowns were from Shuman & Co. An attractive bouquet of flowers on the tea table was from the Mohan Floral company.

Fashion and Auto Day Today.

Today is Fashion Day and Automobile Day. Merchants will again keep open house and welcome visitors who care to see the latest styles and a parade will be given at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon which will start from Twelfth and Austin streets. J. W. Carlin, chairman of the general committee of the details of the parade; A. C. Patton and George G. Stubblied, in charge of the automobile section of the parade, and J. H. Boyle, A. C. Patton, George Stubblied, A. C. Alexander and Davis Stribling, in charge of the fashion part of the program.

Two herds in costume will lead the parade, followed by Chief of Police Guy McNamara, who will mount a police-marshal, mounted police-marshal. Next will come the Goddess of Liberty, Miss Frances Van Boddie, in a float with Uncle Sam. Miss Van Boddie, portraying the Goddess, led

CHILDREN HATE PILLS, CALOMEL AND CASTOR OIL

IF CROSS, FEVERISH, CONSTIPATED, GIVE "CALIFORNIA SYRUP OF FIGS."

Look back at your childhood days. Remember the "dose" mother insisted on—castor oil, calomel, cathartics. How you hated them, how you fought against taking them.

With our children it's different. Mothers who cling to the old form of physic simply don't realize what they do. The children's revolt is well-founded. Their tender little "insides" are injured by them.

If your child's stomach, liver and bowels need cleansing, give only delicious "California Syrup of Figs." Its action is positive, but gentle. Millions of mothers keep this harmless "fruit laxative" handy; they know children love to take it; that it never fails to clean the liver and bowels and sweeten the stomach, and that a teaspoonful given today saves a sick child tomorrow.

Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on each bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here. See that it is made by "California Fig Syrup Company." Refuse any other kind with contempt.

If Your Health Is Poor Your Work Suffers

CONSTIPATION threatens your health every day, every hour that you permit it to persist. To disregard it is to invite disaster, for constipation is the underlying cause of many more serious disorders.

is odorless and tasteless, absolutely neutral, and is not digested or absorbed into the system. It acts merely as a mechanical lubricant.

Nujol is not a drug. Its use will not give quick, temporary relief. But Nujol is a genuine remedy in that it relieves constipation in the most natural way by lubricating the lining of the intestines, softening the intestinal contents, and thus promoting healthy and normal bowel activity.

Write for "The Rational Treatment of Constipation," an informative treatise on constipation. If you cannot get Nujol from your druggist, we will send you a pint bottle prepaid to any point in the United States on receipt of 75c—money order or stamps.

Stage Employees' Union Sends Open Letter to Queen

The following self-explanatory letter has been received by Coke Horne, dealing with the action taken recently by members of the local branch of the International Association of Theatrical Stage Employees:

Mr. Coke Horne, Mgr. Queen Theatre, Waco, Texas.

Dear Mr. Horne:

We, the undersigned, have become thoroughly convinced that the position you have maintained since the recent strike is not because of any unwillingness on your part to pay the regular union scale, but solely and entirely because of your feeling as to the manner in which the strike was precipitated and the subsequent attitude of the union.

In the light of sober second thought we are free to admit that our action might have been somewhat hasty, and over-zealous, and that had we used more conciliatory methods, any differences between us might have been more promptly and amicably settled, which is the end we now seek to accomplish.

E. A. HARRELL, President.

DISTINGUISHED JEWISH THEOLOGIAN SUCCUMBS TO ATTACK OF PARALYSIS.

PROMINENT IN B'NAI B'RITH

Many Times Honored With High Offices by Associates—Lifelong Friend of Sam Sanger.

Dr. Aaron Suhler, 70 years old, retired rabbi and well known in Jewish circles over this and adjoining states, died at his residence, 900 Reynolds street, at 6:25 o'clock last night, following an attack of paralysis that seized him at his office on the afternoon of February 21. Due to his advanced age he failed to rally from the attack to any marked extent and though he appeared to be slightly better at times, grave fears were entertained for his recovery from the outset.

Dr. Suhler was born at Marktstett, Bavaria, November 4, 1845, the same town that marked the birthplace of Sam Sanger of this city. The two were playmates and classmates in school, and this early friendship remained steadfast throughout the years. After his preliminary education, Dr. Suhler entered the Würzburg Theological seminary, where he completed his course with honors, and due to his marked proficiency in the Hebrew language he was given the chair of Hebrew at the seminary at Mainz, Germany, following his graduation. And while there have been few better posted Hebrew scholars in this country than he, Dr. Suhler did not confine his scholarship to the Hebrew language and history, but was a man of wide learning and information on general subjects.

First Pastor Rodef Shalom Temple. Believing there was a larger opportunity for a young man in America than in Germany, he came to this country in 1872 and became pastor of the Jewish congregation in Akron, Ohio, for his education was in preparation for the ministry. After serving several years there, he received a call to the Emanuel congregation in Dallas, and following a period of several years there, he was called to Waco to become the first pastor of Temple Rodef Shalom, which charge he resigned, after a few years, in order to accept a call to similar work in Vicksburg, Miss. After resigning his pastorate at Vicksburg he returned to Waco, retired from the ministry and entered the insurance business, in which he was engaged at the time of his death. While a minister in Dallas he married Miss Clara Schwarz of Hempstead, and she, with several children, survive him. The children are Miss Miriam Suhler, member of the high school faculty; and Ben Suhler of this city; Mose Suhler, Dallas; Felix Suhler, El Paso, and Leo, Sidney and James Suhler, all of Houston. All of these will attend the funeral, which, in order to permit the arrival of the son from El Paso, will not be held until tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock from Temple Rodef Shalom, followed by interment in Hebrew Rest. Dr. I. War saw, pastor of the congregation, will officiate.

Dr. Suhler was prominent in the work of the Independent Order of B'nei B'rith and was for several years president of the local chapter, Eureka lodge No. 198. For a number of years he was the convenor delegate from the seventh district, composed of seven Southern and Southwestern states, and last year he was a delegate to the constitutional convention of the grand lodge of that order which was held at San Francisco during the Panama-Pacific exposition. That was his last trip in behalf of the lodge. At the time of his death and for two years previous he was secretary of the congregation over which he was a former pastor. He was an active Odd Fellow and Mason, and the Masons will have charge of the ceremonies at his grave tomorrow.

Due to his long residence here, his prominent position and his interest in public affairs, Dr. Suhler was well known and he was as popular with Gentiles as with the members of his own faith. He was a man of strong character and high ideals and his demise will be generally deplored.

Cross, esteemed lecturing knight; W. E. Knight, secretary; J. K. Rose, treasurer; E. C. Robinson, tiler; Charles Robinson, inner guard; Dan Morris, Will Carroll, Anderson Riley, trustees. Mr. Carroll, whose term expired last night, was re-elected for the long term as trustee. Past Exalted Ruler W. R. Davidson was elected representative to the grand lodge which meets in Baltimore in July, with Abe Gross as alternate.

Members of the High School club which meets at the Young Men's Christian association each Friday evening will have for their speaker tomorrow night Dr. Frank Wright, the noted singer and evangelist, who is conducting a meeting at the Presbyterian church. A large attendance is expected at the meeting tomorrow night. A supper will be served to the boys before they hear the talk of Dr. Wright.

NEGROES ORGANIZE FOR BEAUTIFICATION OF SCHOOL GROUNDS

Negroes of Waco have resolved to make a strong contribution toward the beautification of the city and in their newly organized Association of Uplift, of which Prof. J. H. Hines of the colored high school is president, they expect to work toward the accomplishment of that aim. This organization is offering cash prizes for the best kept grounds of the city, as well as the best kept home premises, and an effort is being made to enlist the largest possible number of contestants in the competition.

It is with a desire to capture the first prize for the schools that the Parent-Teacher association of the North Seventh Street colored school is holding a special program of civic improvement yesterday afternoon at the school building when addresses were made by James Hays Quarles of the Waco Tribune and Mrs. John F. Rowe, while other white persons were visitors. A number of addresses and upon the conclusion of the meeting refreshments of cake and cream were served. The attendance and interest were large.

Members of the association are planning to park the east end of the school lot and change the front of the lot to Sixth street instead of on the alley extending from Sixth to Seventh streets. It has been heretofore. Mr. Quarles suggested opening up the alley to Eighth street and other improvements of a general character, while Mrs. Rowe suggested the planting of vines along the old fence and the solicitation of white friends and neighbors to plant bulbs and the like which the white people do not care to use this year. Accordingly, the request is made by Mrs. A. A. Keeling, president of the association, that any white person in the city having any description of plant or flower that he does not need, but which would contribute something to the beauty of the school campus, call new phones 855 and 321, and some one will be designated to go after the flowers and deliver them.

The death of Mrs. Blanton occurred yesterday morning as a result of a severe attack of grip with complications. She was 58 years old at the time of her death and had been a resident of the city for many years, and enjoyed a host of friends and acquaintances.

Deceased is survived by her husband, four sons, E. H. W. N., R. B. and E. T. Blanton, all of Waco; two daughters, Miss Veda Blanton of Waco, and Mrs. W. O. Wallace of Godley.

ON REGENERATION AT FIRST PRESBYTERIAN

The audience at the revival services at the First Presbyterian church Wednesday evening was the largest of any week night since the beginning of the revival.

Neighborhood prayer meetings will be held by the ladies at 10 o'clock this morning in the following homes: Mrs. J. B. Sawtell, 1818 Austin; Mrs. William Sleeper, 1111 Austin; Mrs. N. H. Smith, 2100 Parrott.

Regular services at 3:15 and 7:30. Dr. Wright preached last night on the subject, "Regeneration."

He said in part: "The devil believes and trembles to be saved you have to both believe and serve. You must be born again. A man may be ever so religious and ever so intellectual without being saved. Nicodemus was religious and intellectual, but Christ told him that he must be born again. Like the scholars today, he wanted everything to be conformed to science.

"Heaven begins on this earth when one is born again."

Scientists Dodging Responsibility.

"There are two great schools of science in the world. One is the normalist, which teaches evolution from the lowest forms of life up to man. The other school teaches that the world just happened by accident. What these people are after is to get away from their responsibility to a personal God.

"I am an abnormalist. I believe that the world was created by God just as the Bible says; but that then an abnormal thing happened. Sin crept in to the world, and made men and women abnormal in their living.

"The worst sin on earth, according to Dr. T. T. Torrey, is a failure to place God before everything else.

"The apostle says that he who liveth in pleasure is dead while he liveth. We send off our daughters to be educated, and get them back as educated heathens.

"You may be a great man, an educated man, but unless you have been regenerated, you are a moral leper. I had rather have my boy an ignorant and be born again than have all the learning of all the ancients without regeneration.

"Regeneration is not salvation. Many a reformed man is lost. If you get Jesus Christ in your soul, you will reform; but a man can reform morally without being a Christian. A man who has Christ in his heart can be trusted anywhere. I do not preach much about dancing, drinking or such things, because if I can lead you to get Christ in your heart, you can be trusted with your morals. As a man thinketh in his heart, so is he; and I want to tell you, friends, that when you get Jesus Christ in your soul, you will be honorable and upright as well as moral.

"You may be a member of the church, but unless you have been born again, you are not saved.

"Christ says, 'Him that cometh to me, I will in no wise cast out.' If you have not come to an earnest, intelligent, honest surrender of your soul to God, do it now.

There were several professions of faith when the invitation was extended.

Ted Lewis Wins Welterweight Title Over Harry Stone

New Orleans, March 1.—Ted Lewis of England was awarded a referee's decision over Harry Stone of New York at the end of their twenty-round bout here tonight. By his victory, Lewis claims the welterweight championship of the world.

Lewis was given the credit of forcing the fight in eighteen of the twenty rounds and with a slight advantage in weight, height and reach, did not seem to be in danger at any stage of the contest. Ringside authorities gave the winner eleven rounds, Stone six and declared three even.

The fight was fast and featured by an almost continuous exhibition of boxing. There were no knockdowns. In six rounds credited to Stone the New York fighter blocked Lewis' blows successfully and for a brief period appeared to assume the offensive. Stone's blows appeared to have little effect on Lewis, however, and the advantage gained over the English title aspirant was soon lost.

Both men weighed in under the required mark of 145 pounds. Before the contest the winner was challenged by Sam Rowlands of Milwaukee.

GUNTER PEONAGE CASE POSTPONED NOVEMBER TERM

The trial of M. A. Gunter of Kosse, charged with peonage, was postponed to the November term when it came up in the United States district court here yesterday. A large number of witnesses who had been in attendance on the court for the past several days were released.

Thirty days in the McLennan county jail and a fine of $100 was the punishment decreed for Walter Brooks, a negro who yesterday pleaded guilty to illicit retelling of liquor.

Fines of $100 in each of five counts were recorded against the M. K. & T. railroad on charges of violation of the hours-of-service law. Three other counts against the road were dismissed by Judge Maxey.

Payment Taxes on Bankrupt Sale Stock Ends Criminal Case

County tax receipts were swelled $210 yesterday when C. W. Crawford, manager of the U. S. Bankrupt Sales company paid that amount to County Tax Collector Lee R. Davis, also paying $27 costs in the county court, in the criminal case filed against him there.

Some time ago complaint was filed by Mr. Davis, charging Crawford with not having paid his occupation taxes. It was contended by County Attorney John B. McNamara that non-payment of these taxes was a violation of the law, which provides that persons selling bankrupt stocks should pay certain taxes.

The payment of the tax in question and of the court costs yesterday ends the case, for the law also provides that where the taxes and costs are paid before trial, no penalty shall be assessed.

THE ATRES

HIPPODROME.

"Between Men."

While Edna Markey has little chance for acting in the new Griffith-Hart play, "Between Men," showing at the Hippodrome today, she seizes with determination what she has. In the scene where the two men discuss her and each declares his intention to marry her, she overhearing them rushes indignantly upon the scene and takes especial offense at Hart for his remark that he "might want to marry Miss Hampden himself." She is lifted out of herself in her scorn and is truly beautiful in her anger. The principal figure is, of course, William S. Hart, and his acting, as always, dominates the action of the entire play. As the westerner and as the eastern visitor he is equally at home and equally effective. In the fight scene with his rival, House Peters, he drew hard applause from his audience in Dallas and was at no time disappointing.

House Peters, the other man in "Between Men," is one of the best liked men on the screen. The fact that he played a losing game and the villain's part in this production, does not make him any less a favorite with the moving picture public. In real character and in appearance Mr. Peters is a real man, and is a worthy rival of the featured star, William S. Hart. Robert McKinnon does his usual splendid work as Peters' partner, and J. Barney Sherry and Bert Warner deserve especial mention as Hampden, the Wall Street financier, and his partner, Worth.

Peters, in order to win the hand of Miss Markey, endeavors to get in his power the girl's father, J. Barney Sherry, by ruining him in the stock market. He succeeds, but by the help of Hart, a young westerner whom he has once helped, Sherry is saved. Hart goes to the East and leagues with Sherry in an attempt to get to the bottom of the other man's actions; here Hart falls in love with the girl, also, but with little encouragement from her. The rest of the story is a tense one of the struggle between the two men. This gripping Triangle will be shown at the Hippodrome today only.

"The Birth of a Nation."

Climaxes roll crest upon crest like ocean waves in a storm in "The Birth of a Nation," which returns to the Auditorium today matinee and night. "Sherman's March to the Sea," "The Battle of Petersburg," the meeting of Lee and Grant at Appomattox, the assassination of Lincoln and the mad dashes of the Ku Klux Klansmen are only a few of the giant crests amid the 5000 waves of thrills.

As illustrative of the methods of D. W. Griffith, the producer of this mighty spectacle of civil war and reconstruction days, a few words may be said of the staging of the battle of Petersburg, Griffith drilled his regiments, numbering 15,000 men, as faithfully as Kitchener in England or McJannet on the Potomac. Like them he had national guardsmen to work with. They knew the manual of arms, but had to acquire the grand tactics of picture evolutions. After the drill was completed the director took his thousands of militiamen on a month's countryside campaign. Each squadron was commanded by a sub-director. Pioneers preceded the soldiers to dig the long miles of trenches, to throw up embankments and reproduce the physical landmarks of the battle. Among the noted Petersburg landmarks was a high tower. Griffith took advantage of this fortunate fact to use the tower as his field headquarters. From its lofty eminence he commanded the whole range of mountain and valley. Right at hand he installed a modern telephone switchboard. From it ran ten wires to ten corners of the field. These wires were placed in conduits underground, so that the men and horses taking part in the battle would not get their feet entangled in the steel threads.

When everything was ready for the camera, Griffith took his place in the tower. His eyes sweeping the whole field, he telephoned instructions every minute to his sub-directors. They obeyed his as quickly and unquestioning as do the soldiers of Joffre or Von Kluck. The result will astound audiences as they have audiences everywhere else.

SPRING EXHIBIT

THE SANGER FASHION SHOW TODAY AND TOMORROW

THE Premier Fashion Exhibition comes today, distinguishing the Sanger Store as the Fountain-head of Fashion. In a most distinctive and exclusive manner we will reveal the Fads and Fancies of Dame Fashion for Spring and Summer, 1916. Sanger Formal Openings and Fashion Shows are recognized as events with the feeling that this store can be relied upon in the presentation of all that is new, worthy and authentic in styles. And it is with the knowledge that every detail of this Grand Fashion Event has been carefully worked out and executed in a manner that will be most pleasing to our friends and patrons, that we say to you that the Spring Opening at the Sanger Store will be ahead—far ahead—of any of its predecessors. Utilizing every means at our command, and without regard for time or expense, we have planned the most brilliant and comprehensive Fashion Show and Formal Opening in our history. Every section of this store reflects the energy and painstaking effort that characterizes the Sanger way of doing things—exemplifying in no uncertain manner the old adage—"A thing that is worth doing at all is worth doing well." WE INVITE YOU TO COME AND WITH A CRITICAL EYE COMPARE, FOR ONLY BY COMPARISON CAN YOU, OR WE, KNOW THAT ALL EFFORTS AND ACHIEVEMENTS OF THE PAST HAVE BEEN SURPASSED.

OUR immense displays of merchandise for Spring and Summer overlook nothing that the foremost originators of Style have set forth as authentic and correct. We have assembled from every worthy source the most complete and comprehensive collection of high class, exclusive and individual styles in Women's and Misses' Millinery, Suits, Gowns, Dresses, Costumes, Waists, Skirts, Wraps, Footwear and Dress Accessories that has ever been arrayed in any one store in the entire Southwest. But the gathering of this great showing of the season's best and finest merchandise was but the first step in our well laid plans for the elaborate exhibition which we invite you to view at this store today and tomorrow. Months ago we made arrangements to bring the best talent from New York City to model these new styles and fashions at the Sanger Store. Our decorating department has been at work for months on the brilliant decorative scheme that will usher the Spring season in all its glory into every section of this greater store of stores. Every little detail that could possibly lend grace and beauty, grandeur and splendor to this occasion has been carefully carried out. And amid the most beautiful and befitting surroundings we present the most extensive showing of all that is new in style and fashion—a showing that emphasizes our leadership in Style, in Quality and in Store Service—a showing that distinguishes the Sanger Formal Opening as an exhibition without a counterpart—an Opening and Style Show in a class to itself.
